

Join the Co-Creative Reflection & Dialogue Space in the Pavilion area at COP25

#reflectCOP25

Institute for Advanced Sustainability Studies

Warm Invitation to the Co-Creative Reflection & Dialogue Space

How do you feel about the COP? How do you experience the culture of this conference and how generative are the conversations you are involved in? Are the formats of engagement allowing you to make the best contribution you can think of? Or could there be ways to make this conference more meaningful to you?

We would like to invite you to reflect with us about how the culture and people's mindsets at the COP are supportive to the change we care about. In dialogical sessions with people from diverse perspectives we would like to reflect on these issues and develop ideas how to make our presence at the COP most valuable.

The IASS Co-Creative Reflection & Dialogue Space is offering different formats for conversations in a respectful atmosphere of listening and mutual learning. Our more specific guiding questions and detailed daily schedule can be found here or on twitter: #DailyScheduleRDSpace.

If you are interested, you find us in Hall 6, across from the WWF Pavilion. You can also contribute thoughts and ideas to our conversation online via our twitter survey under @reflectCOP.

We look forward to meeting you in our space.
Your IASS hosting team

The programme at the space will be supported by a research team from the Institute for Advanced Sustainability Studies (IASS) in collaboration with colleagues from Chalmers University of Technology, Lund University and the University of East Anglia. Brahma Kumaris supported the space through room design and logistical support.

